

ABOUT THE MAJOR

Latin American Studies at the University of Utah provides a deep understanding of the peoples, politics, and history of Latin America. Through the rigorous study of languages, societies, and culture, you will gain a rigorous foundation for understanding global issues and their impact on Latin America.

In this major, students develop analytical and methodological tools from a variety of disciplines. With coursework grounded in language, you will gain or expand on your proficiency in Portuguese, Nahuatl, Quechua, or Spanish. You will also select a variety of Latin America-focused classes from across campus. This interdisciplinary approach gives you the flexibility to pair your major with pre-health courses, a minor, a second major, and/or experiential learning activities related to your academic and career goals.

You'll be able to practice your critical language and cultural skills through first-hand experience by studying abroad, completing internships in a related field, researching a project with faculty, or working directly with local communities. These skills and knowledge are not just relevant for careers abroad; the critical language and intercultural skills gained as a Latin American Studies major are applicable both domestically and internationally in fields such as education, healthcare, non-profits, business, and many other fields.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Develop or expand proficiency in a foreign language(s) in order to navigate a Latin American nation and communicate with its people.
- Build a base of Latin America-oriented knowledge, skills, and global awareness that equips you for an international career.
- Demonstrate an understanding of history, cultures, politics, and fundamental ideas and institutions of Latin America.
- Analyze and communicate about contemporary issues of Latin America and/or Latin American Diasporas through a critical, interdisciplinary lens.

PLAN & PREPARE

At the U, we plan for our students to have an Exceptional Educational Experience identified by four broad categories we call the Learning Framework: Community, Knowledge & Skills, Transformation, and Impact. This major map will help you envision, explore, design, and plan your personalized Exceptional Educational Experience with the Learning Framework at the core. In addition to assisting you in planning your coursework and navigating the requirements of your major, this map will help you incorporate other kinds of experiences to expand your knowledge, support your development, and prepare you for the future you want.

COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES

2019-2020 MAJOR MAP

"I loved the flexibility of Latin American Studies. I knew my future was in medicine and would therefore be dominated by sciences, so LAS was a way for me to continue to deepen my knowledge of other disciplines. It was also possible to manage the heavy pre-med coursework with LAS. It made me more marketable as a med school applicant."
